Global Supply Chains and how they can be improved

Once upon a time everything was just in time. And then the world changed. And now it has changed again... .

Global supply chains have been disrupted by factors such as covid restrictions and covid-related lockdowns, geopolitical tensions and staff shortages. We all know the problems, but where can we find solutions?

The program for this event is:

- Alina Angielczyk, Director Sales Area North, Hapag-Lloyd - Spotlight on Sustainability in a Challenging Market Environment from Hapag-Lloyd's Perspective
- Fredrik Udd, Managing Partner, Explore Markets - How global companies can solve their problems with global supply chains by sourcing in Poland
- Bartek Borczynski, Senior Director Planning & Logistics, Northvolt - Global Supply Chain disruptions from a giga-start-up perspective - case of Northvolt
- Agnieszka Kubaszewska-Monik, Freight Commercial Manager Business Region Baltic Sea South, Stena Line - How the ferry industry enables new efficient supply chains
- Panel discussion moderated by Malgorzata Musińska-Kubis, Head of Marine Logistics Section, Ciech SA - Where and how to find the key to the supply chains disruption puzzles - different perspectives
- Refreshments and networking
